VOTE BIG INCREASE FOR DRY ENFORCEMENT

SENATE PASSES

$24,000,000

INCREASE TUESDAY

HARRIS AMENDMENT TREBLES INCREASE; VOTE STOOD 50 TO 27

THEN CONSIDERS PROPOSAL TAXING TAX REFUNDS FROM MELLON'S HANDS

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 23.—Having overthrown Secretary of Treasury Mellon in his effort to kill the $24,000,000 increase for prohibition, the senate today proceeded to consider a proposal to take tax refunds entirely out of Mellon's hands.

The Harris amendment authorizing the trebling increase in prohibition appropriations was adopted late yesterday 50 to 27 and the senate proceeded immediately with the McKellar amendment which would give the board of tax appeals jurisdiction over all tax refunds amounting to more than $10,000.

Sen. McKellar's speech attacking Mellon's plan to refund $75,000,000 in taxes next year was interrupted by adjournment but he still held the floor to continue his attack when the senate meets this afternoon.

A widespread opposition to Mellon's proposal has grown up behind McKellar. Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, old foe of the secretary, and Senator Simmons, ranking democratic member of the finance committee, are planning to join in. Other independent republicans and democrats have signified their intention of speaking, although leaders hope to force a vote on the issue before night.

The new contest against Mellon is an outgrowth of the prohibition fight in which he sought to kill the Harris amendment, saying there was no cause for such an enormous increase at this time. This amendment will this afternoon go back to the house where Rep. LaGuardia, republican, New York, is planning a speech demanding acceptance of the amendment.

The house had the District of Columbia appropriation bill under discussion. Leaders are convinced that the threatened filibuster against the naval cruiser bill will not now be carried out and they are awaiting disposition of the pending deficiency bill before bringing the cruiser bill back before the senate.

FIGHT ON BILL GOES TO HOUSE

By CECIL OWEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 23.—The battle between Secretary Mellon and dry groups over the $24,000,000 extra prohibition appropriation continues undiminished today but on a new front.

Passage by the senate late yesterday of the modified Harris amendment to the deficiency bill shifted the fight to the house where a bitter debate is expected. As passed, the amendment clothes the president with authority to allot the money among various government agencies.

This change was made to meet objections of Secretary Mellon to the original Harris amendment which assigned the entire sum to the prohibition bureau. Mellon pointed out the customs service, coast guard and other enforcement bureaus are equally as important as the dry bureau.

Even in its modified form, however, the amendment fails to meet Mellon's protest because it provides no way of increasing court facilities to try dry cases. Without provision for appointment of additional federal judges the present congestion in federal courts would be unrelieved.

As court congestion is regarded by the treasury as a major handicap to blocking effective enforcement, Mellon is opposing any measure which does not meet this difficulty.

President Coolidge entered the controversy indirectly today when it became known he opposes any appropriation of large sums which might cause a treasury deficit at close of his administration. The $24,000,000 would give the treasury a total of $37,500,000, the most ever appropriated directly for prohibition enforcement.

The charge that congested court dockets are blocking prohibition enforcement drew a statement from Attorney General Sargent today showing the pending number of criminal cases of all classes has

CRAZED FATHER ATTACKS CHILDREN WITH A HAMMER

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 23.—UP—Jane Bowling, 10, died here today, the victim of a hammer wielded by her father, Alexander Bowling, 51. Jane's sister, Virginia Frances, 12, died last night.

The girls were brought here late yesterday from their home at Munfordville, where their father, apparently temporarily crazed, attacked them.

Bowling is in the Hart county jail under the care of a physician; he is reported to have attacked the children to save them from want, caused by financial reverses.

3-WAY PROBE OF ACCIDENT UNDER WAY

MOTOR BUS-INTERURBAN COLLISION AT BELLEVUE, OHIO, YESTERDAY

COST NINETEEN LIVES AND INJURED 13 PERSONS NEAR THE TOWN

Bellevue, O., Jan. 23.—(UP)—A three-way investigation of the motor bus-interurban electric train crash which cost nineteen lives and injured thirteen persons a mile and a half east of here yesterday got under way today, while attempts were made to identify the bodies of the victims.

The head of the bus division of the public utilities commission, and the chief of railroad department of commission, joining forces, started one inquiry. Others were begun independently by officials of the Greyhound Motor Bus Line and the Lake Shore Electric Company.

While authorities worked to establish identity of the four remaining unidentified victims, a state investigation of the crash, on orders of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, was begun.

The huge Greyhound bus, the "Jack Rabbit," bound from Detroit to Pittsburgh, carried 30 passengers as it left Toledo.

Ed Butler, Cleveland, driver of the bus piloting the big machine through snow, sleet and a driving blizzard, was forced to constantly wipe the windshield in order to see ahead.

Approaching a triangular crossing where two roads and the interurban line intersect, Butler stopped the bus, passengers said.

"I stopped at the crossing, got out to wipe off the windshield which was caked with snow and ice, looked both ways up and down the track, and saw nothing," Butler said from his hospital bed.

"Getting back into the bus I started across the tracks and the next thing I knew we were broadside and everything was smashed."

John Schuyler, motorman of the interurban, himself injured, was able to climb out of the wreckage and make his way to a farm house close by where he summoned help.

Many dead were taken from the wreckage before the arrival of a wrecker. When the car was taken off the bus other dead persons were found.

steadily declined since he took office in 1924.

Sargent, however, said he stood with Mellon in favoring additional federal judges.

Comparing the 30,000 criminal cases now pending in federal courts with the 63,000 on the dockets in 1924, Sargent pointed out the number of cases on court calendars has declined about 50 per cent in the past four years.

The reply of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Anti-Saloon League leader, to Mellon's letter opposing the $24,000,000 appropriation, was expected at the treasury today.

Dissension in Anti-Saloon League ranks over advisability of the appropriation gained headway today with indications that F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, may be deprived of his duties as legislative agent.

President-Elect Hoover Now Virtual Recluse on Beautiful Man-Made Island Near Miami

CORPS OF SECRET SERVICE MEN ON GUARD

THOUSANDS SEE PRESIDENT-ELECT AND WIFE IN PARADE YESTERDAY

NO ENGAGEMENTS LISTED FOR HOOVER, WHO PLANS TO GO FISHING

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 23.—President-elect Hoover became a virtual recluse today on a beautiful man-made island, tropically lovely with its spreading palms and brilliant flowers and its artificial pools of water.

The only entrance to the island is over a causeway from Miami Beach, which is across the bay from Miami. That entrance is guarded by a corps of secret service men.

Only those are permitted to enter who have the proper credentials for such a visit. There will be no stream of visitors.

All of Miami and Miami Beach and thousands from other parts of Florida saw the president-elect and his wife yesterday when he paraded through both cities. Most everybody has seen the last of them, except for some keen-eyed citizen who may recognize them as they speed by in a large automobile.

Hoover will leave the place only for such automobile drives as he and Mrs. Hoover took last night, or for his fishing expeditions and when he goes on the latter all he has to do is step in a yacht only two hundred feet from the front door.

The president-elect planned to remain in seclusion today except for his usual automobile ride. He intends to go fishing, and may start out today, but he indicated he would wait until tomorrow. He has no engagements listed.

Though Miami and Miami Beach probably will see little of the president-elect, both cities are excited over his presence. He is an added attraction, as well as a guest.

Miami and Miami Beach have turned their attention toward the greatest crowd attractions in the country today. Two are Herbert Hoover and Jack Dempsey, another is former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, who will be here soon. While Mr. Hoover is in seclusion,

PEACE PREVAILS IN CHICAGO'S MILK WARFARE

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Peace prevailed in Chicago's milk war today while producers and distributors, under a truce, selected committees to meet with an arbitrator to agree on a price which distributors shall pay for raw milk in the Chicago area.

Representatives of the two groups met in harmony and pledged to cooperate in bringing about a satisfactory solution of the milk war which caused the strike and resultant heavy losses both to farmers and distributors.

Distributors said all country plants, closed down during the strike of the farmers, would be reopened as soon as possible.

FREIGHTER AND TANKER IN DISTRESS STILL AFLOAT

FLORIDA AND THE DANNEDAIKE COMMUNICATE WITH RESCUE SHIPS

LINER AMERICA EXPECTED TO REACH THEM BY DAY-BREAK

New York, Jan. 23.—(UP)—The Italian freighter Florida and the American tanker Dannedaike were still afloat about 800 miles off the Virginia Capes today with three ships ploughing through heavy seas to their aid.

The Radio Marine Corporation here said at that time it heard the two vessels in communication with the United States liner America, one of the rescue ships.

The America advised the stricken ships she expected to reach them about daybreak.

The three ships ploughing through high waves to aid the Florida and the Dannedaike—with more than 60 men aboard—were the Dollar liner President Harrison, the United States liner American, and the German steamer York. All were approximately 200 miles from the two vessels when distress signals first were received yesterday.

Progress was difficult, and the President Harrison wired her New York offices last night she had practically "hoove-to" on account of the high waves.

Hope virtually was abandoned for the British freighter Teesbridge, her master wireless for aid Monday, reporting hatches stove in and in danger of sinking about 400 miles southeast of Cape Race.

Four day of storms in the North Atlantic crippled the three vessels. Shipping was impaired considerably, and trans-Atlantic liners advised their New York offices they were battling heavy seas.

The Florida was 13 days out of Pensacola bound for Naples with a cargo of pitch pine lumber. Her master reported a broken rudder. There were between 30 and 38 men on board.

The Dannedaike with a crew of 33 was bound for Ghent, Belgium, from Beaumont, Texas.

The President Harrison was returning to New York from a round the world tour. There were 30 passengers aboard.

NORTHWEST IS GRIPPED IN SUB-ZERO MARK

TRAFFIC IS SERIOUSLY HAMPERED, DEATH OF ONE PERSON CAUSED

27 DEGREE DROP IN 12 HOURS RECORDED IN THE TWIN CITIES

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Lashed by a 35-mile-an-hour wind and buried under the heaviest snow of the winter the northwest today was gripped in sub-zero temperatures which seriously hampered traffic and caused the death of at least two persons.

Mrs. Irene Allie, 27, St. Paul, was fatally injured Tuesday night when blinded by the beating snow, she stepped into the path of an automobile.

An unidentified man about 60, was killed during the storm by a Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Omaha switch engine at Stillwater, Minn. It was believed the man, blinded by the driving snow, stumbled onto the tracks in the path of the engine.

Bus traffic was completely stopped save in the urban districts.

Trains were a half hour to three hours late and street cars ran on slow schedules.

The temperature dropped 27 degrees in 12 hours in the Twin Cities and hovered around the 15 degree below zero mark early today with no indications of improvement.

At Brainerd it was 24 degrees below zero today, only one degree less than the low point during the night. Moorhead reported 23 and Little Falls 20.

Firemen were called upon to fight two serious blazes during the night and early morning hours.

The LaSalle Products Co., Inc., three-story building in the Midway district of the Twin Cities was destroyed with a $100,000 loss and the home of Andrew Peterson, Brainerd, was razed by fire with an estimated loss of $2,500.

Airplane service was cut off between the Twin Cities and Chicago although several pilots attempted flights only to be forced back to their hangars.

Traffic officials said that trains and busses might be operated on schedule before nightfall. Snow plow crews were working on most of the principal rail lines and highways clearing away the solidly packed drifted snow.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Heavy winds and near-zero temperatures returned to the north and middle west today.

The weather bureau reported the cold wave, sweeping down from Canada, had enveloped Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana. Government forecasts predicted little relief for at least 36 hours.

Temperatures reported were: at Havre Mont., 29; Devils Lake, N. D., 10; Williston, N. D., 16; The Pas, Man., 30; Houghton, Mich., 2; Bemidji, Minn., 16.

Ice-coated rails were blamed for a wreck on the South Shore Electric Line at Michigan City, Ind., in which five persons were injured. Carl H. Schubert, 26, was killed at Rock Island, Ill., in a coasting accident.

Several towns in Illinois reported flooded lowlands caused by heavy rainfall. The Peoria, Ill., fire department answered 50 calls to pump out basements.

Mantitowoc, Wis., a lake port, reported the season's worst blizzard, trains running behind schedule, county roads blocked and a gale lashing the lake.

Freak winds caused considerable damage in Chicago, blowing in plate glass window fronts and damaging signs.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE ACTS IN MATTER

SENATOR A. J. ROCKNE OF ZUMBROTA IS CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE

OVERCROWDED CONDITION IS REPORTED IN PENAL INSTITUTIONS, ASYLUMS, ETC.

By HECTOR PERRIER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—Under the leadership of Senator A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota, chairman, and Senator John D. Sullivan, St. Cloud, the senate finance committee was expected today to begin a thorough inquiry into conditions of state institutions.

The committee no doubt will call in members of the board of control in an effort to learn what steps must be taken to relieve the reportedly crowded conditions in penal institutions, asylums, schools and homes.

Senators Rockne, Sullivan, Chris Rosenmeier of Little Falls and others of the committee are said to be determined to correct any conditions which they deem unwholesome and they may make some radical changes in the budget appropriations as recommended by the Big Three.

The inquiry will likely continue through most of the week and will give way to an investigation of recommendations for university appropriations.

At the same time another report is soon expected on a problem which will give to an investigation of the legislature, the state tax commission's report on iron ore.

Senator Fred Besette, Orr, is the leader of the fight to have the mining taxes reduced as are other northern Minnesota legislators but the question will be contested by southern members. The tax commission's report is looked for next Tuesday.

Perhaps the most interesting development of Tuesday's session was a bill introduced by Representative Ray J. Quinnivan, St. Cloud, which would give the governor authority to appoint a member of the board of control to the state parole board.

Under the present law the senior member of the control board, now C. J. Swenson, is chairman of the parole board.

Representative Quinnivan's bill would permit the governor to name any one of the three control board members to the parole board.

It is rumored at the capitol that Swenson is anxious to be relieved of his parole board post which he has held for four years.

$55 PER TON FOR NEWSPRINT PAPER SET FOR 1929

New York, Jan. 23.—(UP)—A price of $55 per ton was agreed upon for newsprint paper during 1929 at a conference here, it was learned today.

William A. Randolph Hearst and the Canadian International Paper Co. consented to this agreement at the suggestion of the Canadian newsprint manufacturers. The latter's course was approved by the Canadian government.

NEW YORK GANGSTER ESCAPES POLICE NET

Nyack, N. Y., Jan. 23.—(UP)—Vincent De Metro, New York gangster, may have escaped from refuge in a burning swamp near here where he was sought by a posse after a turbulent session with the law and private citizens, yesterday. Report received today from Suffern said a man resembling De Metro had been seen there but complete identity was lacking.

De Metro was believed may have the borders of Rockland county where he had involved himself in a strange battle with officers.

VOTE BIG INCREASE FOR DRY ENFORCEMENT

SENATE PASSES $24,000,000 INCREASE TUESDAY

HARRIS AMENDMENT TREBLES INCREASE; VOTE STOOD
50 TO 27

THEN CONSIDERS PROPOSAL TAK-

Washington, Jan. 23.—Having overthrown Secretary of Treasury
Mellon in his effort to kill the $24-000,000 increase for prohibition, the senate today proceeded to consider a proposal to take tax refunds entirely out of Mellon's hands.

The Harris amendment authorizing the trebling increase in prohibition appropriations was adopted late yesterday 50 to 27 and the senate proceeded immediately with the Mc-Kellar amendment which would give the board of tax appeals jurisdiction over all tax refunds amounting to more than $10,000.

Sen. McKellar's speech attacking Mellon's plan to refund $75,000,000
in taxes next year was interrupted by adjournment but he still held the floor to continue his attack when the senate meets this afternoon.

A widespread opposition to Mel-lon's proposal has grown up behind McKellar. Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, old foe of the secretary, and Senator Simmons, ranking democratic member of the finance committee, are planning to join in.
Other independent republicans and democrats have signified their intention of speaking, although leaders hope to force a vote on the issue before night.

The new contest against Mellon is an outgrowth of the prohibition fight in which he sought to kill the Harris amendment, saying there was no cause for such an enormous increase at this time. This amendment will this afternoon go back to the house where Rep. LaGuardia, republican,
New York, is planning a speech demanding acceptance of the amendment.

The house had the District of Columbia appropriation bill under discussion. Leaders are convinced that the threatened filibuster against the naval cruiser bill will not now be carried out and they are awaiting disposition of the pending deficiency bill before bringing the cruiser bill back before the senate.

FIGHT ON BILL GOES TO HOUSE

By CECIL OWEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Jan. 23.—The battle between Secretary Mellon and dry groups over the $24,000,000 extra prohibition appropriation continues undiminished today but on a new front.

Passage by the senate late yester-

the fight to the house where a bitter

Bellevue, O., Jan. 23.—(UP)—A three-way investigation of the motor bus-interurban electric train crash which cost nineteen lives and injured thirteen persons a mile and a half east of here yesterday got under way today, while attempts were made to identify the bodies of the victims.

The head of the bus division of the public utilities commission, and the chief of railroad department of commission, joining forces, started one inquiry. Others were begun independently by officials of the Greyhound Motor Bus Line and the Lake Shore Electric Company.

While authorities worked to establish identity of the four remaining unidentified victims, a state investigation of the crash, on orders of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, was begun.

The huge Greyhound bus, the

in 1924.

Sargent, however, said he stood with Mellon in favoring additional federal judges.

Comparing the 30,000 criminal cases now pending in federal courts with the 63,000 on the dockets in 1924, Sargent pointed out the number of cases on court calendars has declined about 50 per cent in the past four years.

The reply of Bishop James Canto Mellon's letter opposing the $24-

Hoover will leave the place only for such automobile drives as he and Mrs. Hoover took last night, or for his fishing expeditions and when he goes on the latter all he has to do is step in a yacht only two hundred feet from the front door.

The president-elect planned to remain in seclusion today except for his usual automobile ride. He intends to go fishing, and may start wait until tomorrow. He has no engagements listed.

Though Miami and Miami Beach

NORTHWEST IS GRIPPED IN SUB-ZERO MARK

TRAFFIC IS SERIOUSLY HAMPER-ED, DEATH OF ONE PERSON CAUSED

27 DEGREE DROP IN 12 HOURS RECORDED IN THE TWIN CITIES

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Lashed by a 35-mile-an-hour wind and buried under the heaviest snow of the winter the northwest today was gripped in sub-zero temperatures which seriously hampered traffic and caused the death of at least two persons.

Mrs. Irene Allie, 27, St. Paul, was fatally injured Tuesday night when blinded by the beating snow, she stepped into the path of an automobile.

An unidentified man about 60,
was killed during the storm by a Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul &
Omaha switch engine at Stillwater, Minn. It was believed the man, blinded by hte driving snow, stumbled onto the tracks in the path of the engine.

Bus traffic was completely stopped
save in the urban districts.

Trains were a half hour to three hours late and street cars ran on slow schedules.

The temperature dropped 27 degrees in 12 hours in the Twin Cities and hovered around the 15 degree below zero mark early today with no indications of improvement.

At Brainerd it was 24 degrees below zero today, only one degree less than the low point during the night.
Moorhead reported 23 and Little Falls 20.

Firemen were called upon to fight
two serious blazes during the night
and early morning hours.

The LaSalle Products Co., Inc.,
three-story building in the Midway district of the Twin Cities was destroyed with a $100,000 loss and the home of Andrew Peterson, Brainerd, was razed by fire with an estimated loss of $2,500.

Airplane service was cut off between the Twin Cities and Chicago although several pilots attempted flights only to be forced back to their hangars.

Traffic officials said that trains and busses might be operated on schedule before nightfall. Snow plow crews were working on most of the principal rail lines and highways clearing away the solidly packed drifted snow.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Heavy winds and near-zero temperatures returned to the north and middle west today.

The weather bureau reported the cold wave, sweeping down from Canada, had enveloped Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana.
Government forecasts predicted little relief for at least 26 hours.

Temperatures reported were: at Havre Mont., 29; Devils Lake, N. D.,
10; Williston, N. D., 16; The Pas, Man., 20; Houghton, Mich., 2; Bemidji, Minn., 16.

Ice-coated rails were blamed for a wreck on the South Shore Electric Line at Michigan City, Ind., in which five persons were injured. Carl H.
Schubert, 36, was killed at Rock Island, Ill., in a coasting accident.

Several towns in Illinois reported flooded lowlands caused by heavy rainfall. The Peoria, Ill., fire department answered 50 calls to pump out basements.

Mantitowoc, Wis., a lake port, reported the season's worst blizzard,
trains running behind schedule,
county roads blocked and a gale lashing the lake.

Freak winds caused considerable damage in Chicago, blowing in plate glass window fronts and damaging signs.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE ACTS IN MATTER

SENATOR A. J. ROCKNE OF ZUM-BROTA IS CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE

OVERCROWDED CONDITION IS RE-PORTED IN PENAL INSTITU-TIONS, ASYLUMS, ETC.

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—Under the leadership of Senator A. J. Rockne, Zum-brota, chairman, and Senator John D. Sullivan, St. Cloud the senate finance committee was expected today to begin a thorough inquiry into conditions of state institutions.

The committee no doubt will call in members of the board of control in an effort to learn what steps must be taken to relieve the reportedly crowded conditions in penal institutions, asylums, schools and homes.

Sensors Rockne, Sullivan, Chris Rosenmeier of Little Falls and others of the committee are said to be determined to correct any conditions which they deem unwholesome and they may make some radical changes in the budget appropriations as recommended by the Big Three.

The inquiry will likely continue through most of the week and will give way to an investigation of recommendations for university appropriations.

At the same time another report is soon expected on a problem which will give to an investigation of the legislature, the state tax commission's report on iron ore.

Senator Fred Bessette, Orr, is the leader of the fight to have the mining taxes reduced as are other northern Minnesota legislators but the question will be contested by southern members. The tax commission's report is looked for next Tuesday.

Perhaps the most interesting development of Tuesday's session was a bill introduced by Representative Ray J. Quinlivan, St. Cloud, which would give the governor authority to appoint a member of the board of control to the state parole board.

Under the present law the senior member of the control board, now C. J. Swenson, is chairman of the parole board.

Representative Quinlivan's bill would permit the governor to name any one of the three control board members to the parole board.

It is rumored at the capitol that Swenson is anxious to be relieved of his parole board post which he has held for four years.

$55 PER TON FOR NEWSPRINT PAPER SET FOR 1929

New York, Jan. 23.—(UP)—A price of $55 per ton was agreed upon for newsprint paper during 1929 at a conference here, it was learned today.

William A. Randolph Hearst and the Canadian International Paper Co. consented to this agreement at the suggestion of the Canadian newsprint manufacturers. The latter's course was approved by the Canadian government.

NEW YORK GANGSTER ESCAPES POLICE NET

Nyack, N. Y., Jan. 23.—(UP)— Vincent De Metro, New York gangster, may have escaped from refuge in a burning swamp near here where he was sought by a posse after a turbulent session with the law and private citizens, yesterday. Report received today from Suffern said a man resembling De Metro had been seen there but complete identity was lacking.

D Metro was believed may have the borders of Rockland county where he had involved himself in a strange battle with officers.

25 YEARS ON FORCE; MAKES FIRST ARREST

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Policeman Jeremiah Downey, who joined the Chicago police department 25 years ago, made his first arrest by taking into custody a "masher."

3,000 SEIZED IN GREATEST UNDERWORLD CLEANUP

After mobilization of Chicago's entire police force in the most spectacular drive against criminals in the city's history, 3,294 persons were captured, searched for weapons, jailed and quizzed. Above is a group of suspects waiting to be questioned at detective headquarters.

ALDERMAN'S MOTION FOR SNOW GRANTED

The city council at its Monday evening meeting was discussing the quality of the new snow plow purchased for use in clearing the streets of Brainerd of snow this winter.

When asked how the new plow worked, City Engineer R. T. Campbell reported that as yet he was unable to say as there had been no snow with which to prove it.

Shortly before the council adjourned Alderman W. J. Hall moved "that we have snow so that the snow plow can be tried."

His motion was granted yesterday afternoon when a "good sized blizzard" struck Brainerd.

Today the plow was out good and early and city officials were satisfied with its performance.

Soften hard water with Melo and see how easy the dishes are to wash

Hard water combines with soap to make scum. Scum leaves a dirty ring around the dishpan. Scum leaves a dirty glaze on dishes. But put a tablespoonful of Melo in the dishpan! Then see!

No scum! Sparkling dishes! The water delightfully soft and sudsy! Use Melo whenever you want soft water. It makes the soap more effective. With or without soap, water softened with Melo is an unusual cleaner. Get it at your grocer's.

Ladies Home League

The Ladies Home League will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Salvation Army hall. A special business meeting will be held, it being the first meeting of the year. All members are urged to be present. Visitors are welcome.

ALDERMAN'S MOTION

FOR SNOW GRANTED

The city council at its Monday evening meeting was discussing the quality of the new snow plow purchased for use in clearing the streets of Brainerd of snow this winter.

When asked how the new plow worked, City Engineer R. T. Campbell reported that as yet he was unable to say as there had been no snow with which to prove it.

Shortly before the council adjourned Alderman W. J. Hall moved "that we have snow so that the snow plow can be tried."

His motion was granted yesterday afternoon when a "good sized blizzard" struck Brainerd.

Today the plow was out good and early and city officials were satisfied with its performance.

Softened hard water with Melo and see how easy the dishes are to wash

HARD water combines with soap to make scum. Scum leaves a dirty ring around the dishpan. Scum leaves a dirty glaze on dishes. But put a tablespoonful of Melo in the dishpan! Then see!

No scum! Sparkling dishes! The water delightfully soft and sudsy! Use Melo wherever you want soft water. It makes the soap more effective. With or without soap, water softened with Melo is an unusual cleaner. Get it at your grocer's.

Alcohol and Buttermilk

Dr. Harvey Wiley said: "It is not necessary that buttermilk should contain any alcohol at all. Fermentation of milk to produce buttermilk is a purely lactic acid fermentation. My own belief is that buttermilk contains no alcohol at all. However, if it does contain a trace, it certainly could not possibly exceed the limit of one-half of 1 per cent as fixed by the Volstead act."

Verification of Current Tax Collections

For the period from Sept. 1, 1928, to Dec. 31, 1928. We find the Treasurer charged with the tax levy for 1927 as follows:

Tax levy for 1927, $1,244,269.13

Additions to the levy, 1,070.10

Total Debit, $1,245,339.23

Taxes Collected, 1,086,914.24

Taxes Abated, 23,444.59

Total Credit, $1,110,358.83

Dec. 31, 1928, Balance uncollected, $ 134,980.40

We hereby certify that we have verified the correctness of the foregoing statement by checking the duplicate receipts with the tax books for the period above named.

Respectfully submitted this 31st day of Dec., 1928.

Pursuant to advertisement, bids for the county printing for year 1929 were read. The following bids were received:

Brainerd Journal Press—financial statement, 75c per folio for all three publications.

Delinquent tax list, 10c per description.

Commissioner's proceedings, 30c per folio.

Miscellaneous publications, 35c per folio for 1st publication and 25c per folio for each subsequent publication.

Brainerd Tribune—financial statement, 90c per folio for straight composition and $1.15 for extra composition for 1st publication and 45c per folio for each two subsequent insertions.

Delinquent tax list, 15c per description.

Commissioner's proceedings, 90c per folio for straight composition and $1.15 for extra composition.

Other publications at legal rates.

The said bidder agreeing to furnish supplements to the Brainerd Daily and Weekly Dispatch, Crosby Courier, Ironton News, Pequot Review and Deerwood Enterprise to be issued by those papers.

On motion of Commissioners Johnstone and Anderson, the bid of the Brainerd Tribune was accepted. All voting "AYE" except Commissioners Holvick and Lowey, who voted "NAY."

Commissioner A. Frank Anderson offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Brainerd Tribune, a legal newspaper regularly printed and published in the City of Brainerd, County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, be and the same is hereby designated by the County Commissioners of Crow Wing County, Minn., as the newspaper in which the notice and list of real estate remaining delinquent in the County aforesaid on the first Monday in January, 1929 shall be published.

Which resolution being seconded by Commissioner Archie B. Johnstone was duly adopted, all members voting "AYE."

On motion the bond of the successful bidder for the publishing of the delinquent tax list was placed at $2,000.00.

On motion $500 each was ordered transferred from the Co. Rev. fund to the Incident and County Attorney's Contingent fund.

The following applications were granted subject to the approval of the Minnesota Tax Commission:

P. J. Long for the settlement of accumulated taxes against Lots 1, 2 and 11 to 21 inc., Eagle Lake Grove.

Lillian B. Van Scoy for the settlement of accumulated taxes against SW 1/4 of SW 1/4, Sec. 14, SE 1/4 of SE 1/4, Sec. 15 and NE 1/4, Sec. 22, all in Twp. 44, Rge. 29.

L. Mathison for the settlement of accumulated taxes against SW 1/4 of NW 1/4, Sec. 6-138-27.

Hattie M. Davis for the reduction of personal property taxes in the City of Brainerd.

Commissioner Lowey offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, at the last General Election, an amendment to the State Constitution was adopted providing for the diversion of 1-3 of the so-called gasoline tax from the Trunk Highway Fund to the State Road & Bridge Fund.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the County Board of Commissioners of Crow Wing County, request the Senator and Representatives from this District to support such legislation as will provide that the funds so diverted be handled in the same manner and through the same channels as the State Aid is now distributed.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be sent to the Honorable C. Rosenmeier, State Senator, to the Hon. Edward P. Seaton, Representative at large, to the Hon. A. M. Opsahl, Representative from Crow Wing County and to the Hon. C. M. Babcock, Commissioner of Highways.

Which resolution being seconded by Commissioner Anderson was duly adopted, all members voting "AYE."

The following report of the Board of Audit was received:

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

TONIGHT the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce has its annual installation of officers. During the past year many matters of importance have been considered and accomplished by this organization.

These include the securing of a garment factory which has brought credit and renown to Brainerd and given employment to many people. The products are widely known and sold all over the United States.

A boat factory was established and is gaining increasing business and adding further to the city payroll. The manufacturing committee was instrumental in gaining these two acquisitions to the city's industries.

A resort hotel is to be established on lower Gull lake at Pine Beach. The Chamber of Commerce hotel committee worked in the financing of this proposition as well as assisting to secure a suitable company to manage the hotel property.

Much advertising of the city and its lake and other resources was done in many ways. For instance the publicity committee aided in compilation of a page issue in the Duluth Herald which gave Brainerd wonderful publicity. City officials who are Chamber of Commerce members assisted in the same way in compilation of a page in the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Work has been done in many ways, by committees, by individuals, all stirred by the generous and public spirited example set by President R. E. Wyett. At the sacrifice of time and money, he has headed many undertakings and brought them through to successful completion.

Attorney C. A. Ryan, a member of the firm of Ryan, Ryan and Ryan, will be the new president at the helm of the Chamber for 1929. He has shown his interest in public affairs in many projects. He has been a high official in lodge work connected with the Knights of Columbus. He is chairman of the Boy Scout Court of Honor and has done much for scouting. He is chairman of the Brainerd Country club greens committee and that means a most responsible position.

It is to be hoped that the incoming administration will see that a careful analysis is made of the various industries on which the prosperity of Brainerd is dependent and to make recommendations relative to their advancement. Basically we now look towards agriculture, the railroad payroll, manufacturing and the tourist trade.

Dairying and agriculture have been aided by the Chamber of Commerce. The committee which put on Better Sires Day, which formulated the plan of distribution of blooded sires, has raised the value of dairy herds throughout the country and done wonderful work. Farming and dairying have been materially advanced to a sounder foundation and will continue to improve.

There are prospects that at some time the Northern Pacific railway company will expand its shops here. An added payroll will bring greater prosperity. There is room for much increase in suitable manufacturing.

But the tourist trade perhaps offers the greatest field for logical development. Brainerd is the trade center of one of the five or six lake districts in the state. The Ten Thousand Lakes association now combined with another association looking towards the upbuilding of Minnesota estimates that the summer tourists leave $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 in the state each year. Theoretically the Brainerd district should retain $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 of this. Actually, from varying estimates the amount left is only between $250,000 and $500,000.

A discrepancy worth some careful study!

THE TOURIST TRADE

WE read of large figures representing the value of the tourist trade in Minnesota, and each community strives to get its share. Things necessary to hold the tourists are efficient lake hotels as well as those in the city, golf courses as well as the old standby resources of fishing, swimming, boating, etc.

Brainerd some time ago adopted a slogan of being the gateway to the 10,000 lakes. A gateway is something to pass through, and to go beyond. Brainerd has passed that idea and means to make a tourist's advance to the Brainerd lake region and the city so worth while that a large proportion will stay to take advantage of the recreation offered.

Brainerd must build such a wall of attractions as to retain within her trade territory at least her fair share of the tourists. She must in some way be made the best known resort point in Minnesota.

Every satisfied guest becomes an ambassador for Brainerd. He tells of the good times enjoyed here, of the many advantages which future activities of Brainerd citizens and organizations as well as those from outside who are interested here promise to largely augment.

We believe every effort to build up the lake country about Brainerd will add greatly to the city's trade territory.

BANKRUPT BY DITCHES

ONE of the problems which this legislature will have to wrestle with will be what to do about that big section of Minnesota which has been practically bankrupted by excessive ditch digging. In Beltrami county 800 miles of ditches have been dug and in Lake of the Woods county 650 miles. Through legislative sanction and advice bonds were issued by these two counties to pay for the performance. In most cases the ditches proved worthless. No particular benefit accrued to the lands. As a consequence the bonds could not be paid, the taxes mounted to more than the land was worth so the settlers left land, taxes and all.

Sixty per cent of the property in the two counties have ceased paying taxes; forty per cent of the property, therefore, must stand for all the taxes to be raised in the county. Naturally, if this 40 per cent must stand paying for all the outstanding drainage bonds, too, in addition to an already excessive tax burden there will soon be a still greater proportion of tax forfeiting property in these two counties. What to do about it is going to prove a serious problem to solve. But as it is through legislative acts that the wretched situation has been created, it devolves upon legislature to find the remedy.—Red Wing Eagle.

It was an impossibility to keep a walk clear last night during the hours of blizzard, and high winds.

THE city snowplow equipment was early on the ground opening streets for car and truck travel.

Impatient Griselda

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO Irene Robeline it was a painful duty to sit up at the vigil of Lilith Holden. The story of Lilith's capture of handsome Guinn Holden, young minister of the Texas town, as told by Mattie Anson, village gossip, was like a stab with a knife. Lilith was the prettiest girl in town. Her coquetry didn't stop at the church, but almost before she knew it she had married Holden. A year later, with the birth of a child, Lilith died. Irene's heart aches for Holden, who attempts to care for the infant with the aid of a colored servant. The minister comes to her for advice, never realizing Irene's passion for him. Will Lundy, town doctor, in love with Irene, is equally ignorant of her secret. Even Mattie Anson who, hints that it is time for Irene to marry Lundy, is deceived. But when Lundy asserts his love Irene rejects him and determines the more to win Holden. She learns the care of babies so as to be of help to him, for his whole life is wrapped up in the pretty child, in whom he sees the dead Lilith. More and more the young father seeks Irene's advice about the infant's care.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER X.

THE minister faced her with awful sternness, as if he were calling down churchly wrath upon her. "Yes, and you've been seeing a lot of little niggers buried in the churchyard, too! Aunt Viny, can you obey orders, or do I have to tell you to go?"

"Turn my baby over to somebody else" she shrilled. "Naw sirl! Ef you ain't wan' her to have black-eyed peas, in co'se I ain't gwine give 'em to her no mo'. You ain't never tol' me not to give her black-eyed peas."

Aunt Viny gave a malevolent look at the interloper and scuttled out of the room, her turbaned head bobbing.

Guinn Holden rumbled his hair with agitated hand. "Whatever am I going to do? He looked in appeal to Irene, with the expression of helpless masculinity that always touches a woman's heart. "Do—do you think I'd better send Lilith to my mother till she's older?"

Of course, that was the sensible thing to do, but her heart melted to unreason at sight of his distress.

"No," she said. "I think Aunt Viny's learned her lesson enough to behave now. And I'll keep a close watch on her after this. She knows she can't fool me."

A deep sigh upheaved itself, so that his very shoulders looked relieved. "I don't know how to thank you."

No, it was evident that he didn't. And also, there was the point to be considered that if he sent Lilith away to his mother, he couldn't be in daily need of her advice and aid. Maybe he'd forget to come across the street at all. No it was better for things to look along as they were.

"Get a doctor here now to probe for the present tummyache and I'm sure the baby will be all right after this. And don't think of sending her away."

"I don't," he promised fervently. "Women are so wise. We men are idiots compared with you."

"I've noticed that myself." When Lilith began to creep, her mother was so excited that he could scarcely attend to his duties at all. He took her with him on his pastoral calls, and made more than usual because of his pride in her new accomplishment.

He would set her down on the floor and then withdraw for a few paces, his face shining, and coax her to come to him.

"Come on, Lilith, come to Daddy now. That's the girl."

She would gaze at him as if questioning his sanity, then with a gurgle she would hunch her plump form along the rug toward his outstretched hands. Then, impatient at slow locomotion, she would drop on her hands and knees and scuttle swiftly to him, to be snatched up in his adoring arms.

"Isn't she cute? Isn't she smart for such a little thing?" he would demand from his beholders.

"Babies have always crawled," Mattie Anson told him one day dryly, at Irene's house after the performance had been exclaimed over. "You'd ought to have her mind examined, or see if there wasn't something the matter with her backbone, if she didn't begin it about this time."

He looked so mortified that Irene rushed up with defensive words. "I think it's a little early. She's doing extra well."

Mattie Anson sniffed in scorn of the two of them.

The minister's eyes thanked Irene for saving his pride. Men needed reinforcements, they liked to believe in miracles, and they were as avid of praise as small boys.

Was his look maybe just the slightest degree less impersonal than usual? Or was it merely an optical illusion, an emotional mirage in her mind?

Abby Whitaker dropped in—doubtless having seen Lilith's go-cart on the porch, which was a signal of Guinn's presence, as a flag flying from a castle might indicate that royalty was within. She had on a new hat, which Guinn had no eyes for, since he was watching the baby play pat-a-cake with Mrs. Robeline. Abby had heard of the baby's new accomplishment and requested to see her crawl.

Irene stiffened at her praise. Couldn't anybody, even a man and a minister, see that Abby was hurling herself at him and using a baby as a tool? But no, the preacher didn't see through Abby any more than he saw through her. And praising the baby's crawl seemed to tickle him, where suggested discipline had chilled him. Would Lilith's crawl get Abby ahead faster, while her thumb was turned down for Irene? Surely if he waited to marry till Lilith was able to talk and dictate to him, that would be a complication.

Was ever a man such a silly? And was ever a woman so irrational as to be in love as hopelessly as she was? Irene laughed to herself as she contemplated the human drama in her sitting room.

Mattie Anson had said Abby was jealous hearted. Well, wasn't she, Irene, jealous of everybody that came near him? Of his dead wife, of his baby, of all the girls in his church? That was what love did to you — demoralized your whole character. . . . But it was a grand emotion, for all that. . . . She'd get herself a new hat next day.

She did, but it was Will Lundy who admired it.

There was tremendous excitement in the church when Lilith cut her first tooth. Guinn had Aunt Viny dress her in her best apparel and bring her to Sunday school, where she held court before the services began. He was letting everybody poke a finger in Lilith's mouth, when Irene came up.

"Think of germs!" she told him in horror. "Children's hands are always dirty."

The youngsters put incriminating hands behind their backs.

Young Ned Gilbert, aged six, said nonchalantly, unabashed at Irene's glimpse of his grubby forefinger, "That'll be all right, Doctor Holden. I'll wash my finger when I get home."

The father looked disappointed at this triumph of sanitary caution over pride in his daughter's tooth. "I guess you're right," he conceded. "Lilith mustn't get any germs."

But part of the morning luster had been smudged for him, and Irene felt guilty. Must she always be depriving him of pleasures, forcing him to do what he didn't like? Wouldn't it be better to let the baby get a mouthful of germs if he and she wished?

But, no. . . .

Abby Whitaker came up with her father, the chairman of the board of deacons. Abby squealed with delight at hearing Lilith had a tooth, and thrust her pink finger into the mouth to feel of it.

"It's a really, truly tooth!" she announced. "Now isn't she the smart thing to go and do that before anybody guessed what she was up to?"

Guinn beamed at her praise.

Rufe Whitaker said heartily, "Well, now, pastor, we'll have to celebrate such an event. You and Lilith come home to dinner with us in honor of the tooth."

"That will be fine," said the minister cordially.

Rufe Whitaker had ten children and their teeth had never bit into his attention, except when he grumbled over the dentist bills. But Lilith's tooth was different, of course, especially when Abby had her new hat set straight for the preacher. Abby had frightfully good-looking teeth herself, even and white and perfect, so that she smiled a good deal in order to exhibit them. Abby was by nature pessimistic and scornful, but a girl who has good teeth must smile, smile, smile. . . . But the preacher was too guileless to see behind Abby's smile or teeth, to her temper and her nature that Mattie Anson called spidery.

Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman in "The Two Lovers"

It becomes increasingly clear to the stubbornly skeptical observer that the team of Colman and Banky is slated for final and irrevocable dissolution. Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky have attained the point where each is an individual star in his and her own right. "Two Lovers," the Samuel Goldwyn production, which opens at the Lyceum tonight, is the last photoplay in which the famous pair may be seen together.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

TONIGHT the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce has its annual installation of officers. During the past year many matters of importance have been considered and accomplished by this organization.

These include the securing of a garment factory which has brought credit and renown to Brainerd and given employment to many people. The products are widely known and sold all over the United States.

A boat factory was established and is gaining increasing business and adding further to the city payroll. The manufacturing committee was instrumental in gaining these two acquisitions to the city's industries.

A resort hotel is to be established on lower Gull lake at Pine Beach. The Chamber of Commerce hotel committee worked in the financing of this proposition as well as assisting to secure a suitable company to manage the hotel property.

Much advertising of the city and its lake and other resources was done in many ways. For instance the publicity committee aided in compilation of a page issue in the Duluth Herald which gave Brainerd wonderful publicity. City officials who are Chamber of Commerce members assisted in the same way in compilation of a page in the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Work has been done in many ways, by committees, by individuals, all stirred by the generous and public spirited example set by President R. E. Wyett. At the sacrifice of time and money, he has headed many undertakings and brought them through to successful completion.

Attorney C. A. Ryan, a member of the firm of Ryan, Ryan and Ryan, will be the new president at the helm of the Chamber for 1929. He has shown his interest in public affairs in many projects. He has been a high official in lodge work connected with the Knights of Columbus. He is chairman of the Boy Scout Court of Honor and has done much for scouting. He is chairman of the Brainerd Country club greens committee and that means a most responsible position.

It is to be hoped that the incoming administration will see that a careful analysis is made of the various industries on which the prosperity of Brainerd is dependent and to make recommendations relative to their advancement. Basically we now look towards agriculture, the railroad payroll, manufacturing and the tourist trade.

Dairying and agriculture have been aided by the Chamber of Commerce. The committee which put on Better Sires Day, which formulated the plan of distribution of blooded sires, has raised the value of dairy herds throughout the country and done wonderful work. Farming and dairying have been materially advanced to a sounder foundation and will continue to improve.

There are prospects that at some time the Northern Pacific railway company will expand its shops here. An added payroll will bring greater prosperity. There is room for much increase in suitable manufacturing.

But the tourist trade perhaps offers the greatest field for logical development. Brainerd is the trade center of one of the five or six lake districts in the state. The Ten Thousand Lakes association now combined with another association looking towards the upbuilding of Minnesota estimates that the summer tourists leave $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 in the state each year. Theoretically the Brainerd district should retain $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 of this. Actually, from varying estimates the amount left is only between $250,000 and $500,000.

A discrepancy worth some careful study!

THE TOURIST TRADE

We read of large figures representing the value of the tourist trade in Minnesota, and each community strives to get its share. Things necessary to hold the tourists are efficient lake hotels as well as those in the city, golf courses as well as the old standby resources of fishing, swimming, boating, etc.

Brainerd some time ago adopted a slogan of being the gateway to the 10,000 lakes. A gateway is something to pass through, and to go beyond. Brainerd has passed that idea and means to make a tourist's advance to the Brainerd lake region and the city so worth while that a large proportion will stay to take advantage of the recreation offered.

Brainerd must build such a wall of attractions as to retain within her trade territory at least her fair share of the tourists. She must in some way be made the best known resort point in Minnesota.

Every satisfied guest becomes an ambassador for Brainerd. He tells of the good times enjoyed here, of the many advantages which future activities of Brainerd citizens and organizations as well as those from outside who are interested here promise to largely augment.

We believe every effort to build up the lake country about Brainerd will add greatly to the city's trade territory.

BANKRUPT BY DITCHES

ONE of the problems which this legislature will have to wrestle with will be what to do about that big section of Minnesota which has been practically bankrupted by excessive ditch digging. In Beltrami county 800 miles of ditches have been dug and in Lake of the Woods county 650 miles. Through legislative sanction and advice bonds were issued by these two counties to pay for the performance. In most cases the ditches proved worthless. No particular benefit accrued to the lands. As a consequence the bonds could not be paid, the taxes mounted to more than the land was worth so the settlers left land, taxes and all.

Sixty per cent of the property in the two counties have ceased paying taxes; forty per cent of the property, therefore, must stand for all the taxes to be raised in the county. Naturally, if this 40 per cent must stand paying for all the outstanding drainage bonds, too, in addition to an already excessive tax burden there will soon be a still greater proportion of tax forfeiting property in these two counties. What to do about it is going to prove a serious problem to solve. But as it is through legislative acts that the wretched situation has been created, it devolves upon legislature to find the remedy.—Red Wing Eagle.

It was an impossibility to keep a walk clear last night during the hours of blizzard, and high winds.

Impatient Griselda

by Dorothy Scarborough

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO Irene Robeline it was a painful duty to sit up at the vigil of Lilith Holden. The story of Lilith's capture of handsome Guinn Holden, young minister of the Texas town, as told by Mattie Anson, village gossip, was like stabs with a knife. Lilith was the prettiest girl in town. Her coquetry didn't stop at the church, but almost before she knew it she had married Holden. A year later, with the birth of a child, Lilith died. Irene's heart aches for Holden, who attempts to care for the infant with the aid of a colored servant. The minister comes to her for advice, never realizing Irene's passion for him. Will Lundy, town doctor, in love with Irene, is equally ignorant of her secret. Even Mattie Anson who hints that it is time for Irene to marry Lundy, is deceived. But when Lundy asserts his love Irene rejects him and determines the more to win Holden. She learns the care of babies so as to be of help to him, for his whole life is wrapped up in the pretty child, in whom he sees the dead Lilith. More and more the young father seeks Irene's advice about the infant's care.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER X.

THE minister faced her with awful sternness, as if he were calling down churchly wrath upon her. "Yes, and you've been seeing a lot of little niggers buried in the churchyard, too! Aunt Viny, can you obey orders, or do I have to tell you to go?"

"Turn my baby over to somebody else!" she shrieked. "Naw sir! Ef you ain't wan' her to have black-eyed peas, in co'se I ain't gwine give 'em to her no mo'." You ain't never tol' me not to give her black-eyed peas."

Aunt Viny gave a malevolent look at the interloper and scuttled out of the room, her turbaned head bobbing.

Guinn Holden rumbled his hair with agitated hand. "Whatever am I going to do? He looked in appeal to Irene, with the expression of helpless masculinity that always touches a woman's heart. "Do—do you think I'd better send Lilith to my mother till she's older?"

Of course, that was the sensible thing to do, but her heart melted to unreason at sight of his distress.

"No," she said. "I think Aunt Viny's learned her lesson enough to behave now. And I'll keep a close watch on her after this. She knows she can't fool me."

A deep sigh upheaved itself, so that his very shoulders looked relieved. "I don't know how to thank you."

No, it was evident that he didn't. And also, there was the point to be considered that if he sent Lilith away to his mother, he couldn't be in daily need of her advice and aid. Maybe he'd forget to come across the street at all. No it was better for things to look along as they were.

"Get a doctor here now to prescribe for the present tummyache and I'm sure the baby will be all right after this. And don't think of sending her away."

"I don't," he promised fervently. "Women are so wise. We men are idiots compared with you."

"I've noticed that myself." When Lilith began to creep, her mother was so excited that he could scarcely attend to his duties at all. He took her with him on his paternal calls, and made more than usual because of his pride in her new accomplishment.

He would set her down on the floor and then withdraw for a few paces, his face shining, and coax her to come to him.

"Come on, Lilith, come to Daddy now. That's the girl."

She would gaze at him as if questioning his sanity, then with a gurgle she would hunch her plump form along the rug toward his outstretched hands. Then, impatient at slow locomotion, she would drop on her hands and knees and scuttle swiftly to him, to be snatched up in his adoring arms.

"Isn't she cute? Isn't she smart for such a little thing?" he would demand from his beholders.

"Babies have always crawled," Mattie Anson told him one day dryly, at Irene's house after the performance had been explained over. "You'd ought to have her mind examined, or see if there wasn't something the matter with her backbone, if she didn't begin it about this time."

He looked so mortified that Irene rushed up with defensive words. "I think it's a little early. She's doing extra well."

Mattie Anson sniffed in scorn of the two of them.

The minister's eyes thanked Irene for saving his pride. Men needed reinforcements, they liked to believe in miracles, and they were as avid of praise as small boys.

Was his look maybe just the slightest degree less impersonal than usual? Or was it merely an optical illusion, an emotional mirage in her mind?

Abby Whitaker dropped in—doubtless having seen Lilith's go-cart on the porch, which was a signal of Guinn's presence, as a flag flying from a castle might indicate that royalty was within.

She had on a new hat, which Guinn had no eyes for, since he was watching the baby play pat-a-cake with Mrs. Robeline. Abby had heard of the baby's new accomplishment and requested to see her crawl.

Irene stiffened at her praise. Couldn't anybody, even a man and a minister, see that Abby was hurling herself at him and using a baby as a tool? But no, the preacher didn't see through Abby any more than he saw through her. And praising the baby's crawl seemed to tickle him, where suggested discipline had chilled him.

Would Lilith's crawl get Abby ahead faster, while her thumb was turned down for Irene? Surely if he waited to marry till Lilith was able to talk and dictate to him, that would be a complication.

Was ever a man such a silly? And was ever a woman so irrational as to be in love as hopelessly as she was? Irene laughed to herself as she contemplated the human drama in her sitting room.

Mattie Anson had said Abby was jealous hearted. Well, wasn't she, Irene, jealous of everybody that came near him? Of his dead wife, of his baby, of all the girls in his church? That was what love did to you—demoralized your whole character. . . . But it was a grand emotion, for all that. . . . She'd get herself a new hat next day.

She did, but it was Will Lundy who admired it.

There was tremendous excitement in the church when Lilith cut her first tooth. Guinn had Aunt Viny dress her in her best apparel and bring her to Sunday school, where she held court before the services began. He was letting everybody poke a finger in Lilith's mouth, when Irene came up.

"Think of germs!" she told him in horror. "Children's hands are always dirty."

The youngsters put inermittent hands behind their backs. Young Ned Gilbert, aged six, said nonchalantly, unabashed at Irene's glimpse of his grubby forefinger, "That'll be all right, Doctor Holden. I'll wash my finger when I get home."

The father looked disappointed at this triumph of sanitary caution over pride in his daughter's tooth. "I guess you're right," he conceded. "Lilith mustn't get any germs."

But part of the morning luster had been smudged for him, and Irene felt guilty. Must she always be depriving him of pleasures, forcing him to do what he didn't like? Wouldn't it be better to let the baby get a mouthful of germs if he and she wished?

But, no. . . . Abby Whitaker came up with her father, the chairman of the board of deacons. Abby squealed with delight at hearing Lilith with a tooth, and thrust her pink finger into the mouth to feel of it.

"It's a really, truly tooth," she announced. "Now isn't she the smart thing to go and do that before anybody guessed what she was up to?"

Guinn beamed at her praise. Rufe Whitaker said heartily, "Well, now, pastor, we'll have to celebrate such an event. You and Lilith come home to dinner with us in honor of the tooth."

"That will be fine," said the minister cordially.

Rufe Whitaker had ten children and their teeth had never bit into his attention, except when he grumbled over the dentist bills. But Lilith's tooth was different, of course, especially when Abby had her new hat set straight for the preacher. Abby had frightfully good-looking teeth herself, even and white and perfect, so that she smiled a good deal in order to exhibit them. Abby was by nature pessimistic and scornful, but a girl who has good teeth must smile, smile, smile. . . . But the preacher was too glib to see behind Abby's smile or teeth, to her temper and her nature that Mattie Anson called spidery.

Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman in "The Two Lovers"

It becomes increasingly clear to the stubbornly skeptical observer that the team of Colman and Banky is slated for final and irrevocable dissolution. Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky have attained the point where each is an individual star in his and her own right. "Two Lovers," the Samuel Goldwyn production, which opens at the Lyceum tonight, is the last photoplay in which the famous pair may be seen together.

SNOWPLOWS BUSY IN BLIZZARD CLEANUP

Fleet of Eight Clear Roads in City and District Today; Relief in Sight

MERCURY DROPS SUDDENLY
Severest Storm of Season Disrupts Highway Traffic Yesterday Afternoon

Braierd and Crow Wing county dug their way out today from the season's most severe storm which developed into blizzard impetus yesterday afternoon and evening, to be followed today by a sudden cold spell which sent the mercury scurrying to points below 25 degrees under zero.

All roads throughout the county yesterday afternoon and evening were blocked. Drifts were reported on the roads from three to seven feet deep. The deepest drift was reported on Highway No. 2 this side of Mtley where plows had difficulty today in breaking through the seven feet of packed snow.

Eight snowplows were rushed into service early today to clear the roads. The city's new plow was out before Braierd was awake. The Minnesota Highway department here sent out five plows to clear Highway No. 19, Braierd to Walker; Highway No. 2, Braierd to Aitkin; Highway No. 18 Braierd to Onamia; Highway No. 27, Braierd to Little Falls; Highway No. 2, Braierd to Wadena. District Highway Engineer A. W. Moulster reported today that all state highways in the district would be open to traffic again by tonight.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy today dispatched two plows to clear the state aid roads in this county. Due to the heavy drifts the roads will not all be open until tomorrow evening, he reported.

No damage was reported to have been caused by the storm to power lines or telephone lines throughout the county.

MACCABEES PLAN BIG INITIATION

State Manager W. K. Blewett of St. Paul Presides at Meeting Last Night

Force of Deputies in Local Field Are Securing Applications.

Crow Wing Tent No. 62 of the Maccabees held a meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. and State Manager W. K. Blewett of St. Paul presided. Mr. Blewett delivered a very interesting and personal message from Supreme Commander D. P. Markey announcing the policy of the Supreme Tent to render every possible assistance to the membership in Braierd to the end that the local organization may be built up to function as a real fraternal institution interested in the affairs of the community and justly entitled to the warm approbation of the citizens of Braierd.

Emphasis was made that while the Maccabees is a protective organization, the fundamental principles involve fraternity and every effort is being put forth to emphasize the fraternal features of the organization.

State Manager Blewett spoke very favorably of C. H. Landaker who has just been transferred from the state of South Dakota and permanently established here as district manager. A number of applications have already been secured towards a class that the Braierd Tent is organizing as its part of the state convention class.

Frank Hynes, a general solicitor of the order, from Minneapolis, also spoke at the meeting.

FIRE RAZES HOME AT 817 MILL AVE.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson Return From Theatre to Find Home in Ruins

LOSS FIXED AT $2300

Partly Covered by Insurance; Rapid Spread of Flames Prevented the Saving of Furniture

Fanned by a heavy wind, fire completely destroyed the one story seven room dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, 817 Mill avenue last evening. Loss is estimated to house and furniture, $2300. It is partly covered by insurance.

The fire started about 9 o'clock from unknown causes. It was first noticed by a Northeast Braierd boy who told Fred E. Lind, the latter telephoning the fire department from his house.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson who were attending the Lyceum theatre at the time returned at 10:30 o'clock to find their house a mass of smouldering ruin.

So quickly did the flames spread it was unable to save anything from the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson were given lodging last evening in a Northeast Braierd home.

Firemen fought the fire in sub-zero weather.

J. B. Avery, a volunteer fireman, was injured while fighting the fire when a brick tumbled down from the chimney, striking him on the forehead. Mr. Avery was taken to his home where a doctor was called. His injury is reported as not serious.

INDOOR CARNIVAL AT IRONTON

Many Braierd People May Attend on Occasion Friday Evening, January 25

Event Under Auspices of Myrin-James Post and Legion Auxiliary

The Indoor Carnival to be put on at the Ironton Village hall Friday, January 25, promises to be one of the most entertaining ever presented on the range. It is under the auspices of the Myrin-James Post and Auxiliary and the members of both organizations have worked hard to make the affair a success.

A ticket-selling contest has been put on, and the winner will be announced shortly after the opening of the Carnival. An attractive prize has been provided for the one selling the most tickets, and each one who entered the race will receive a commission on the tickets sold.

Plenty of amusements to keep everybody entertained will be provided. For those who love to dance there will be good music and a good floor.

Keno will furnish amusement for others, and the Ironton merchants have donated a large number of valuable prizes for this game.

Fortune tellers will be there, to predict the future and disclose the past. These booths will be in charge of experienced women and this pastime will undoubtedly have a large number of patrons.

Brainerd Must go Forward!

What does Brainerd now exist on?

	Estimated Annual Income
Agriculture.....	$2,500,000
Railroad payroll.....	2,160,000
Manufacturing (including paper mill and mining).....	300,000
Tourist trade.....	250,000
Total Annual Basic Income.....	$5,210,000

All other business, salaries, income of whatever nature, is dependent on this basic source.

But How? What one of these sources can be logically and quickly increased?

The answer is easily seen—the tourist trade. Agriculture, after fifty years of intensive effort, is on a sound foundation, and will show a steady development. Increase or decrease of the railroad payroll is in the hands of the company. Factories will come—but gradually. But the tourists leave eighty million dollars in the state every year, of which Brainerd gets an estimated $250,000.—less than one three-hundredth part. Yet Brainerd is the center of one of the five lake districts of the state—entitled to one-fifth of that enormous sum, three times her present income! Prosperity for everybody!

SNOWPLOWS BUSY IN BLIZZARD CLEANUP

Fleet of Eight Clear Roads in City and District Today; Relief in Sight

MERCURY DROPS SUDDENLY

Severest Storm of Season Disrupts Highway Traffic Yesterday Afternoon

Braierd and Crow Wing county dug their way out today from the season's most severe storm which developed into blizzard impetus yesterday afternoon and evening, to be followed today by a sudden cold spell which sent the mercury scurrying to points below 25 degrees under zero.

All roads throughout the county yesterday afternoon and evening were blocked. Drifts were reported on the roads from three to seven feet deep. The deepest drift was reported on Highway No. 2 this side of Mottley where plows had difficulty today in breaking through the seven feet of packed snow.

Eight snowplows were rushed into service early today to clear the roads. The city's new plow was out before Braierd was awake. The Minnesota Highway department here sent out five plows to clear Highway No. 19, Braierd to Walker; Highway No. 2, Braierd to Aitkin; Highway No. 18 Braierd to Onamia; Highway No. 27, Braierd to Little Falls; Highway No. 2, Braierd to Wadena.

District Highway Engineer A. W. Moulster reported today that all state highways in the district would be open to traffic again by tonight.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy today dispatched two plows to clear the state aid roads in this county. Due to the heavy drifts the roads will not all be open until tomorrow evening, he reported.

No damage was reported to have been caused by the storm to power lines or telephone lines throughout the county.

MACCABEES PLAN BIG INITIATION

State Manager W. K. Blewett of St. Paul Presides at Meeting Last Night

Force of Deputies in Local Field Are Securing Applications.

Crow Wing Tent No. 62 of the Maccabees held a meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. and State Manager W. K. Blewett of St. Paul presided. Mr. Blewett delivered a very interesting and personal message from Supreme Commander D. P. Markov announcing the policy of the Supreme Tent to render every possible assistance to the membership in Braierd to the end that the local organization may be built up to function as a real fraternal institution interested in the affairs of the community and justly entitled to the warm approbation of the citizens of Braierd.

Emphasis was made that while the Maccabees is a protective organization, the fundamental principles involve fraternity and every effort is being put forth to emphasize the fraternal features of the organization.

State Manager Blewett spoke very favorably of C. H. Landaker who has just been transferred from the state of South Dakota and permanently established here as district manager. A number of applications have already been secured towards a class that the Braierd Tent is organizing as its part of the state convention class.

Frank Hynes, a general solicitor of the order, from Minneapolis, also spoke at the meeting.

BRAINERD LOSES TO BOVEY FIVE, 21-20

LEGION BOYS SPLIT EVEN ON OPENING GAMES OF TOUR

START OUT MONDAY BY TRIMMING AITKIN 38 TO 24; BOVEY TEAM SHOWS CLASS

MANAGER PETERSON CONFIDENT OF VICTORY OVER MARBLE THERE THIS EVENING

Word came from Bovey, Minn., today that the Bovey hopes had upset the Brainerd American Legion basketball squad last evening, the score being 21 to 20.

At the half the score was 11 to 8 in favor of Bovey.

Manager Lester Peterson, who will take his team to Marble, Minn., tonight, feels confident that his men can come through there with a victory.

The locals started out their week's tour at Aitkin Monday evening by trimming the Co. B. team to the tune of 38 to 24.

Otto Heikkinen will be out of the line-up for the rest of the road trip, having ruptured a blood vessel in his leg in the game last evening.

WHALES FROLIC OFF CAPE HATTERAS AND FEAST ON FISH

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 23. — (UP)—Whales — thousands of them — are frolic off Cape Hatteras and feasting on small fish, Captain Olaf Bowitz, master of the Norwegian steamer Kem was credited on the waterfront today with reporting on arrival here.

According to Captain Bowitz, besides whales, the sky is a flutter with tens of thousands of gulls — feasting on the bits of food the whales leave.

Between Cape Hatteras and Cape Henry, the Norwegian skipper said, he sighted last Saturday and Sunday, three big schools of whales.

SEEKS FIGHT WITH JACK SHARKEY

LOUGHRAN HAS ASPIRATIONS GIVEN BUMP

BELIEVES, HOWEVER, HE CAN LICK ANY HEAVYWEIGHT IN COUNTRY

SIGNS UP WITH PROMOTER PADDY HARMON AT CHICAGO

By BERT DEMBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 23. — The heavy-weight championship aspirations of Tommy Loughran have been jolted temporarily, because leading heavies prefer not to recognize the light heavyweight champion as a contender for the title left vacant by Gene Tunney.

Loughran believes he can whip any heavyweight in the country and has signed a contract with Promoter Paddy Harmon for a fight with him.

But Harmon said he has encountered a stone wall in attempts to persuade the leading heavies to meet Tommy. Loughran particularly wants to fight Jack Sharkey.

So great is his desire for a Sharkey match that he told Harmon: "Just get that guy into a ring with me. Give him whatever he asks for and I'll take what's left. Don't worry about what you'll have to pay me; you can name your own figure if you get Sharkey."

Harmon said he had wired to Sharkey explaining the circumstances and telling Jack he probably can draw a $200,000 crowd on the opening night of the new Chicago stadium which will seat almost 30,000.

The promoter said Sharkey ignored his wire.

"I then went after Stribling and Risko," Harmon said. "Neither one of them even answered my communications."

There is a tendency in the east not to recognize Tommy as a heavy because he now holds the light heavyweight championship. The contention was made that he should vacate the light heavyweight title before going into the heavyweight division.

Harmon said he is going to try all the leading heavies in an effort to get Loughran an opponent.

Lingering Colds Play Havoc In System Weakened by Flu

Physicians advise that the chief danger of this year's epidemic lies in the after-effects. Colds attacking the weakened system so often lead to bronchitis, sinus trouble, pneumonia, or even meningitis. This is especially true of children or old folks.

These colds must be checked immediately. And yet too much dosing may upset the digestion which is already disturbed by the toxins of influenza.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here. As it is applied externally, it can be used freely at the first sign of a cold without upsetting the most delicate digestion. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

BRAINERD LOSES TO BOVEY FIVE, 21-20

LEGION BOYS SPLIT EVEN ON OPENING GAMES OF TOUR

START OUT MONDAY BY TRIMMING AITKIN 38 TO 24; BOVEY TEAM SHOWS CLASS

MANAGER PETERSON CONFIDENT OF VICTORY OVER MARBLE THERE THIS EVENING

Word came from Bovey, Minn., today that the Bovey hopes had upset the Brainerd American Legion basketball squad last evening, the score being 21 to 20.

At the half the score was 11 to 8 in favor of Bovey.

Manager Lester Peterson, who will take his team to Marble, Minn., tonight, feels confident that his men can come through there with a victory.

The locals started out their week's tour at Aitkin Monday evening by trimming the Co. B. team to the tune of 38 to 24.

Otto Heikkinen will be out of the line-up for the rest of the road trip, having ruptured a blood vessel in his leg in the game last evening.

SINCLAIR OILS, STUDY CLUB WIN TWO GAMES EACH

BRAINERD BEVERAGES AND ALDERMAN-MAGHAN TEAMS DROP MAJORITY OF GAMES

BOB GUSTAFSON HITS MAPLES FOR 557 TOTAL; L. IMGRUND SCORES 230 IN ONE GAME

The Study Club beat the Alderman-Maghan team two out of three games last evening, and the Sinclair Oils took two from the Brainerd Beverages, the last one with the nice count of 1001 pins.

Bob Gustafson, with 557, was high man for the evening, and Louis Imgrund's 230 was high single game.

This evening the Oakland-Pontiacs meet the Moose No. 1, and the Monument Works meets the Princess Candy Kids.

Last evening's score follow:

WHALES FROLIC OFF CAPE HATTERAS AND FEAST ON FISH

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Whales—thousands of them—are frolic off Cape Hatteras and feasting on small fish, Captain Olaf Bowitz, master of the Norwegian steamer Kem was credited on the water-front today with reporting on arrival here.

According to Captain Bowitz, besides whales, the sky is a flutter with tens of thousands of gulls—feasting on the bits of food the whales leave. Between Cape Hatteras and Cape Henry, the Norwegian skipper said, he sighted last Saturday and Sunday, three big schools of whales.

Pit Pony's Wisdom

In the old workings of a Rhondda Valley mine, in Wales, a pony hauling its coal wagon suddenly dug his heels in and refused to budge. While the miner with it was vainly trying to coax it to go on, a big piece of roof fell with a crash in front of them.

LOUGHRAN HAS ASPIRATIONS GIVEN BUMP

BELIEVES, HOWEVER, HE CAN LICK ANY HEAVYWEIGHT IN COUNTRY

SIGNS UP WITH PROMOTER PADDY HARMON AT CHICAGO

By BERT DEMBY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 23.—The heavy-weight championship aspirations of Tommy Loughran have been jolted temporarily, because leading heavies prefer not to recognize the light heavyweight champion as a contender for the title left vacant by Gene Tunney.

Loughran believes he can whip any heavyweight in the country and has signed a contract with Promoter Paddy Harmon here agreeing to meet any opponent Harmon gets for him.

But Harmon said he has encountered a stone wall in attempts to persuade the leading heavies to meet Tommy. Loughran particularly wants to fight Jack Sharkey.

So great is his desire for a Sharkey match that he told Harmon: "Just get that guy into a ring with me. Give him whatever he asks for and I'll take what's left. Don't worry about what you'll have to pay me; you can name your own figure if you get Sharkey."

Harmon said he had wired to Sharkey explaining the circumstances and telling Jack he probably can draw a $200,000 crowd on the opening night of the new Chicago stadium which will seat almost 30,000.

The promoter said Sharkey ignored his wire.

"I then went after Stribling and Risko," Harmon said. "Neither one of them even answered my communications."

There is a tendency in the east not to recognize Tommy as a heavy because he now holds the light heavyweight championship. The contention was made that he should vacate the light heavyweight title before going into the heavyweight division.

Harmon said he is going to try all the leading heavies in an effort to get Loughran an opponent.

Lingering Colds Play Havoc

In System Weakened by Flu

Physicians advise that the chief danger of this year's epidemic lies in the after-effects. Colds attacking the weakened system so often lead to bronchitis, sinus trouble, pneumonia, or even meningitis. This is especially true of children or old folks.

These colds must be checked immediately. And yet too much dosing may upset the digestion which is already disturbed by the toxins of influenza.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here. As it is applied externally, it can be used freely at the first sign of a cold without upsetting the most delicate digestion. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

HENRY J. KILLILEA, MILWAUKEE CLUB HEAD, PASSES AWAY

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Henry J. Killilea, joint founder of the Milwaukee League and owner of the Milwaukee Club of the American Association died here today.

Killilea had been suffering from heart disease and paralysis for more than two weeks and had been unconscious for 40 hours preceding his death.

ROYAL AIR FORCE PLANES KILL ELEVEN SOLDIERS WITH BOMBS

Calcutta, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—A dispatch from Peshawar received here today said that 11 soldiers were killed when Royal Air Force planes, practicing bombing operations with live bombs dropped three bombs on what the aviators took for a white circle. The circle, in reality, was a group of soldiers whose white head-dress resembled a target.

Three of those killed were Indian officers and eight were cavalrymen.

KEYES TAKES STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

Los Angeles, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Asa Keyes, former district attorney of Los Angeles county, took the witness stand in his own defense at today's session of his trial on charges of conspiracy to give and receive bribes.
